News and Updates from the Fresno State OLLI

Summer OLLI!

There are still a few options for learning this summer with the Fresno State OLLI Online. There are three sessions remaining in the Highway 1 - A Scenic Roadtrip class with Janice Stevens and Pat Hunter. You can learn about first impressions with Gia Kazarian on Monday and Tuesday, the 27th and 28th and figure out the best kind of dog for you at Kit Perry's class on August 6.

If you missed Lanny Larson's Current Events class, there is still one more on August 4 you can register for HERE.

Resources

The National Humanities Center is hosting free sessions with authors discussing their books through a series on Race and Injustice. You can view recordings of past sessions, or watch them each week live through Aug. 19. Click HERE to view the authors.

It's it time to mix-up your home activities? The Los Angeles Times posted 100 things you can do or learn online. Read it HERE.

If you're longing to get outdoors, Sycamore Island is open this summer for local fishing (click HERE). You can also rent a boat for a day (many have shade) at Bass Lake or Shaver Lake, and likely other nearby locations. You can enter Yosemite National Park by paying for a reservation (click HERE.) You can enter Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Park without reservations.

Find your favorite food truck! Every day, Fresno Street Eats on Facebook posts where food trucks are parked (click HERE).

Footnotes - optional reading

Your OLLI director found a lost kitty - we haven't been able to find her owners and we can't keep her. She is a very small Siamese-mix. She is so, so sweet and easygoing. She has excellent house manners and loves attention from humans, but isn't as enthusiastic about doggos. My daughter has been walking her with a leash and harness - that's how cooperative she is. If you are interested or know someone who is, please contact jiwagner@csufresno.edu.
